

Morgan Lewis hires from Norton Rose

14 November 2007

Nicholas Pettifer

Corporate finance lawyer Iain Wright has left Norton Rose to become a partner in the London office of Morgan Lewis.

In recent years Wright's focus has been on the international communications, media and technology sectors.

At Norton Rose, Wright was an equity partner specialising in cross-border M&A and equity capital markets transactions. He is most known for his work on France Telecoms' $52.04 billion acquisition of Orange.