We may obtain Personal Data from the following sources:

- Directly from our Clients or via other information provided to us during the Client's engagement with us;
- Public sources, such as the internet and social media sites; and
- Third parties, including vendors engaged by us or our Clients to provide services on our or our Client's behalf.

3. Purposes for Processing Personal Data

The Firm processes Personal Data in connection with, and to provide legal services to, our Clients—notably, to facilitate our provision of such services, to respond to queries, and for other professional dealings with our Clients. The processing of such Personal Data may be a statutory requirement for providing legal services (i.e. for conflict check purposes or to comply with anti-money laundering laws) and we will not be able to provide legal services without the required Personal Data in such cases.

We are also permitted to process Personal Data to comply with our legal and regulatory obligations, our contractual (including pre-contractual) obligations to our Clients to provide the services to them, and for our own legitimate interests.

Where you are the Client, payment information is also necessary for the performance of a contract between you and us, and/or to take steps, at your request, prior to entering into a contract.

Where you are not the Client, the processing of your Personal Data is necessary for our legitimate interests and those of our Clients, namely, administering the legal services.

Based on our legitimate interests and to the extent allowed by applicable law, we may process Personal Data of personnel employed or engaged by our Clients and other contacts for business development and marketing purposes, such as sending LawFlashes and other legal updates, and invitations to seminars, webinars, and other events hosted or sponsored by the Firm. Individuals may unsubscribe from these marketing communications at any time. In these cases, we comply with the requirements for data transfers out of the ADGM to countries of inadequate data protection and

In certain other cases, the Firm may rely on the derogations in Article 44 of the DPR 2021 for its data transfers out of the ADGM, such as explicit consent of the data subject or if the transfer is necessary for the establishment, exercise or defense of legal claims.

The Firm's security measures to protect the Personal Data are described below in this Notice. We do not allow any third parties to have access to this Personal Data, except as required or permitted by applicable laws or in accordance with this Notice. We have taken appropriate steps to ensure that such entities process the Personal Data in accordance with applicable law.

6. Legal Basis for Processing Personal Data

The Firm's contractual (and pre-contractual) and legal obligations, as well as its legitimate business interests under the Data Privacy Laws, form the legal basis of the processing described in this Notice. The Firm's legitimate interests or those of a third party include our requirements to use Personal Data in litigation, investigations, regulatory or governmental enquiries, or for other legal or regulatory purposes involving the Firm and/or any affiliate of the Firm and may also include the need to transfer your Personal Data to third countries with differing data-protection laws.

7. Data Security

We understand that storing Personal Data in a secure manner is an essential requirement of the Data Privacy Laws and, therefore, we employ reasonable physical, technical, and organisational security measures to protect Personal Data against foreseeable risks, including accidental, unlawful, or unauthorised use, access, disclosure, destruction, loss or modification, whether it is processed in your local jurisdiction, in the United States or elsewhere. More specifically, our information security team has developed policies, standards, and procedures to support and enforce preventive and detective operational controls to ensure the confidentiality, integrity, and availability of our Client data, such as Log Collection Analysis and Event Correlation, Perimeter Protection, Account Security, Physical Security, User Access, Encryption, Data Loss Prevention, and Vulnerability Management. In addition, Firm personnel are required to read and attest to the Firm's code of business conduct and confidentiality and data security policies on an annual basis. Personnel are also required to attend online data privacy and security training.

Although we make good-faith efforts to store the information we receive from and on behalf of our Clients in a secure operating environment that is not available to the public, we cannot guarantee complete security. Further, while we work to ensure the integrity and security of our network and systems, we cannot guarantee that our security measures will prevent third-party "hackers" from illegally obtaining this information.

8. Retention, Access, and Accuracy of Personal Data

We intend to keep Personal Data accurate and up to date. We retain the Personal Data for the duration of the Client engagement and, depending on the applicable jurisdiction in which a Client is located, for seven or 10 years after the end of the engagement for legal, regulatory, audit, and tax requirements.
