Deal Drivers — The Big Picture

- Employment Law for Deal-Makers . . .
 - Don't buy problems you don't want
 - Avoid unwanted costs for seller
 - Increase deal value for buyer and seller
 - Avoid deal risk for buyer and seller
 - Prevent conventional employment liability (reduction-in-force (RIF) discrimination & sexual harassment claims, Worker Adjustment and Retraining Notification Act (WARN), etc.)
- Cornerstone: business objectives should drive employment issues, but you need to be able to identify them
- You won't get everything you want, so know the key business drivers

Stock Deals – Overview

- Buyer gets everything, good and bad
- Employee relationships remain intact
- Employment and labor contracts remain intact
- Union relationships remain intact
- Restructuring costs attach to business unless . . .
 - restructuring costs are reflected in purchase price, OR
 - some “seller-predecessor” continues to exist AND it agrees to pay restructuring costs

Stock Deals – Strategies for the Buyer

- Due diligence, due diligence, due diligence
- Representations and warranties by seller
 - No benefits violations or litigation except . . .
 - No legal violations or litigation except . . .
 - Representations on employee classification becoming more significant . . .
- Schedules supplied by seller
 - Pending lawsuits
 - Labor contracts
 - Executive employment contracts
 - Benefits plans
 - Severance and release agreement history – a hidden gem
- Indemnification by seller for . . .
 - Matters predating purchase
 - Violations of representations/warranties
 - WARN-related events

Asset Deals – The Good News

- Potential flexibility concerning employment and other contracts
- Seller's employment liabilities more likely stay with seller
- Seller's restructuring costs more likely stay with seller
- Potential flexibility concerning union agreements and relationships

Asset Deals – The Bad News

- Successorship – what employment obligations does buyer inherit?
 - among the most complicated issues in labor law
- What is test for “successor” status? (more bad news)
 - different types of duties/claims:
 - liability for seller’s discrimination or other unlawful conduct
 - duty to remedy seller’s unlawful conduct
 - duty to bargain with seller’s union
 - duty to arbitrate grievances under seller’s labor contract
 - duty to adopt seller’s labor contract
- Buyer can accidentally assume seller’s problems and liabilities
 - transaction documents are not controlling (assumed/excluded liabilities)

Asset Deals – Successor Liability

- Successor liability applies if a court determines it is “fair and necessary” to do so:
 - Concern is that failure to hold successor liable for unlawful employment practices of predecessor would leave the alleged “victim” without a remedy and encourage evasion of statutory obligations through ownership transfers
- Courts often focus on two main factors:
 - Continuity in operations and workforce
 - Ability of the predecessor to provide relief to the alleged victims
- Statutory Examples
 - FMLA, FLSA, Title VII
 - Courts generally focus on continuity in business operations and predecessor’s ability to provide relief
 - “Totality of the Circumstances”

Asset Deals – Successor Liability (contd.)

To mitigate successor liability exposure, buyers should:

- Determine level of exposure through detailed diligence
- Ensure reps and warranties state that employment liabilities, if any, are the sole responsibility of seller
- Ensure covenants restrict seller's ability to incur new liabilities prior to closing
- Consider adding an escrow, special indemnity, or other mechanism to recover any potential successor liability costs
- Quickly integrate seller's employees into organization to avoid absorbing any flaws in seller's practices

Asset Deals – Strategies for the Buyer

- Due diligence
- Seller's representations/warranties/covenants
- Seller's schedules
- Seller's indemnifications
- PLUS . . .
 - deal structure and business changes can potentially alter what buyer gets
 - more potential leverage in renegotiating contracts with seller's executives
 - more potential leverage in renegotiating union labor agreements

Large Exposure Issues

- The following have potential for large exposure to a buyer:
 - Labor Organizations and Representation
 - Misclassification of Employees
 - Misclassification of Contractors
 - COVID compliance and OSHA considerations
 - Sexual Harassment & Misconduct Liabilities in the #MeToo Era
 - Termination and Change-in-control Obligations
- Sellers should also pay attention to these issues:
 - Resolving or limiting these issues prior to the transaction can increase sellers' bargaining power and limit the need for heavy negotiation over potential liability

Buyer “Due Diligence” Requests

- Standard items

- Employee lawsuits/agency charges pending
- Sexual harassment allegations/charges
- Benefit plans and SPDs
- Comprehensive employee census
- Employment agreements
- Confidentiality, noncompetes, nonsolicitations
- Employee handbooks
- Arbitration Agreements
- Exempt/nonexempt classifications
- Independent contractor classifications
- Unions? Where?
- Labor contracts
- COVID compliance and future impact

- What you also really want (current and past)

- Internal complaints/issues
- MeToo data
- DEI data
- Government audits, investigations, and citations
- Benefit claim appeals
- Workers’ comp claims and expenses
- Workplace accidents, other OSHA information
- Employment applications, offer letters, turnover data, absenteeism, exit interview results
- Separation or Severance Agreements
- EEO-1 forms and affirmative action plans
- Immigration I-9 forms for current employees
- Visa overview
- Prior handbooks, benefit plans, SPDs, etc.
- Union-organizing attempts (past and pending)
- All union memos of understanding, side letters, ratification summaries, etc.
- Grievance, arbitration, NLRB charge history
- Strike and work stoppage history
- Contracts with staffing agencies

International Issues

- Assemble team of knowledgeable lawyers for all relevant jurisdictions
- Organize tasks and documents by country as well as by other aspects of the deal
- Press for diligence from relevant foreign entities
- Pay attention to time tables for pre and post-closing tasks
- Much more extensive government regulation of individual employment relationships in many non-US jurisdictions
- Much more extensive government and legally required union and works council approvals required in many non-US jurisdictions
- Be aware of TUPE (Transfer of Undertakings (Protection of Employment)) and TUPE-like obligations and/or need for Three Party Agreements
- Watch for issues with multijurisdictional employees

International Termination-Related Liability

- Statutory and common law severance for non-US employees:
 - Concept of “at-will” employment is largely nonexistent outside the United States
 - Local laws may require termination payments or lengthy notice periods (e.g., UK, Germany, The Netherlands)
 - These statutory (or otherwise mandated) termination obligations could be material and local counsel should advise regarding scope and implications of such obligations

Union Issues

- If employees are represented by a labor organization, buyers must understand scope of representation, including obligations under existing agreements
- Such agreements may include information and requirements relating to areas such as:
 - Employee benefits and compensation
 - Promotions and demotions
 - Hiring and separation from employment
 - Grievances and related matters

Union Issues

For buyer (in an asset deal)

- Union “successorship” – what seller obligations does buyer inherit?
 - “Workforce majority” is controlling in many cases
 - measured against whom?
 - discrimination in hiring is illegal
 - Business continuity component is also relevant
 - “Perfectly clear successor” loses ability to unilaterally set new initial terms and conditions
 - REMEMBER: different “successor” test for each type of potential obligation
- Protect against “material changes” with deal pending
 - Seller’s labor contracts being renegotiated (check contract termination dates)
 - Significant grievance arbitration cases, other union litigation, and settlements
 - Ad hoc “side agreements” or “memos of understanding”
 - Seller management’s “mixed loyalties” problem

Union Issues

For sellers (and buyers in a stock deal)

- Labor contract obligations
 - Successors/assigns language
 - Limitations on sales, relocations, plant closings, and layoffs
 - Maintenance-of-benefits clauses and required participation in multiemployer pension plans (withdrawal liability)
 - Neutrality or card-check provisions
- Bargaining obligations
 - Decision-bargaining
 - Effects-bargaining
 - Closing-turned-into-something-else
 - Expiration of existing labor agreements
- Potential “runaway shop” claims (antiunion discrimination)
- Risks:
 - Status quo injunctions
 - Buy-it-back, put-it-back plus $$$$

Contracts – Severance, Change in Control, etc.

- Sources of Potential Contract Liability
 - Individual employment contracts
 - Employee handbooks
 - Oral contracts (real or alleged)
 - Collective bargaining agreements, side letters, memos of understanding, etc.
 - Implied and quasi-contracts
- Watch . . .
 - Family businesses
 - Retiree medical insurance or other retiree obligations
 - Culture clash (turnover, litigation, or both)

Misclassification: Overtime Exemptions

- Are employees properly classified as exempt or nonexempt for overtime purposes (FLSA/state law)?
 - Potential Red flag – none or very few nonexempt employees
- Potential repercussions for misclassification:
 - Liability for all unpaid overtime (may run back as far as three years in cases of willful violations)
 - Liability for withholding wages
 - Fines and penalties
 - Attorney fees exposure
 - Recordkeeping liability (e.g., where seller has failed to properly record employees' hours worked)

Diligence of Overtime Exemptions

Overtime exemption classification diligence:

- Request information on employees' salaries, classifications, job titles, job descriptions, classification policies, and similar documents
- Inquire as to classification methods and practices
 - Consider interviewing the decision maker
- Request internal and external self-audits of classifications as well as any recent DOL (or similar state agency) audits

Misclassification: Independent Contractors

- Were service providers properly classified as a contractor, consultant, or advisor, rather than as employees?
- Potential repercussions for contractor misclassification:
 - Misclassified contractors could be entitled to retroactive participation in employee benefits
 - Payment of federal and state employment taxes and amounts that should have been withheld, including interest and penalties
 - Penalties for failure to contribute to state unemployment funds
 - Unpaid overtime or other wage-based claims (if the employee should have been classified as non-exempt)
 - State law major risk driver

Diligence of Independent Contractors

- Independent contractor classification diligence:
 - Buyer should request information such as lists of contractors with summaries of any services provided and service history
 - Buyer should also request copies of individual contractor agreements and related statements of work
 - As with overtime, consider requesting any self-audits or third-party audits of classifications as well as any recent agency audits

COVID Considerations in the Deal Context

- COVID non-compliance and/or associated layoffs can create significant liability exposure – beware of “inheriting” such liability through a transaction!
 - Direct COVID transmission exposure and interplay with workers’ comp
 - WARN Act exposure associated with furloughs and layoffs
 - Discriminatory treatment during layoffs/furloughs
 - Failure to adhere to applicable health and safety standards
 - Challenges regarding religious and disability accommodations
 - Overreach in violation of certain local restrictions regarding vaccination and testing
 - Failure to comply with mandatory paid sick time obligations
 - Failure to fully reimburse for reasonable and necessary business expenses
 - Loss of key employees due to illness, relocation, or other changes

Sample COVID Employment Reps

- The Company and each of the Subsidiaries has been and is in compliance, in all material respects, with all applicable Laws and Contracts respecting employment, employment practices, workplace safety, employee privacy, employee health, orders by any Governmental Entity regarding COVID-19, employee benefits, terms and conditions of employment, immigration matters, labor matters, and wages and hours, in each case, with respect to its Employees and to the Company's Knowledge there are no allegations to the contrary.
- During the [four (4) months] preceding the Agreement Date, neither the Company nor any of the Subsidiaries has implemented or planned to implement any plant or office closing, transfer, furlough, reduced hours/schedule of Employees or layoff of Employees, and neither the Company nor any of the Subsidiaries has any plans to implement any plant or office closing, transfer of Employees or layoff of Employees.
- The Company and each of the Subsidiaries have taken reasonable steps to minimize potential workplace exposure in light of COVID-19 and the Company has delivered to Parent accurate and complete copies of all (i) covid prevention plans or programs; (ii) workplace communications from the Company and any of the Subsidiaries to Employees regarding actions or changes in vaccination or testing requirements, workplace schedules, Employee travel, remote work practices, onsite meetings, or other changes that have been implemented in response to COVID-19; (iii) contingency plans for workplace cessation in light of COVID-19; and (iv) any other policies implemented in relation to COVID-19.

COVID Disruption to Future Employee Relations

- Critical to consider who the pandemic will influence employee relations on a go-forward basis
 - Where will employees work?
 - All remote? Out of state/country? Will this trigger permanent establishment (tax), benefits, licensing, heightened reimbursement, classification, or wage/hour issues?
 - What government orders are likely to impact the employment relationships going forward?
 - Shelter in place orders; workplace health/safety orders; limitations on number of individuals onsite; limitations on access to high-rise buildings (elevator access); possible staggered schedules; obligations to rehire from former layoffs.
 - What derivative issues may impact stability of workforce going forward?
 - School closures and remote learning; increasing care of children/parents; relocation decisions; increased need for stable employment with reliable health insurance.

Sample COVID Employment Covenants

- During the period commencing at the Closing and ending on the date which is [x] months from the Closing, Buyer shall and shall cause the Target Company to provide each Employee who remains employed immediately after the Closing with compensation and benefits that are no less favorable in the aggregate than the compensation and benefits provided by the Target Company immediately prior to the Closing, including with respect to: (i) base salary or hourly wages; (ii) target bonus opportunities (excluding equity-based compensation), if any; (iii) retirement and welfare benefits; and (iv) severance benefits; provided, however, that the Buyer shall not be restricted or limited in any way from causing the Target Company to modify the compensation or benefits of any Employee who remains employed by the Target Company immediately after the Closing in connection with a global pandemic that materially impacts, or that is reasonably likely to have a material impact [over an extended period of time] on, the Target Company's business operations and financial stability, so long as such modifications are, in the Buyer's reasonable opinion, effected to the least extent necessary.
- The Buyer shall not, and shall cause the Target Company not to, take any action following the Closing that could result in WARN Act liability, except for such actions taken in connection with a global pandemic that materially impacts, or that is reasonably likely to have a material impact [over an extended period of time] on, the Target Company's business operations and financial stability, so long as such actions are taken, in the Buyer's reasonable opinion, to the least extent necessary.

#MeToo in the Deal Context

- Targeted #MeToo diligence and representations are critical to avoid being saddled with potentially negative PR repercussions, leadership disruptions, and tainting internal work culture and employee morale
- Ensure diligence covers all items that could uncover potentially material sexual harassment claims
- Evaluate liability associated with any concerning information
- Take appropriate action
 - Escrow
 - Indemnification
 - Reduction in purchase price
 - Abandon the deal???
 - Other options (e.g. exiting high-level executives with ties to harassment prior to closing)
 - Manage Public Relations

#MeToo Diligence

- Ensure you are not inheriting undiscovered sexual harassment claims
 - Diligence should include extensive review of internal and external complaint records
 - Scrutinize HR investigations & internal emails
 - Focus on upper management
 - Interview Heads of HR & Compliance
 - Consider a cultural assessment
 - Review publicly-filed actions
 - Engage a background check agency to investigate

#MeToo Representations

- Ensure purchase agreements contain adequate representations to protect Buyer against unknown sexual harassment claims (consider relevant statutes of limitation in applicable jurisdiction)
- Sample Rep: Within the three (3) years prior to the date hereof, there has not been, or threatened, any allegation of sexual harassment or sexual misconduct against (i) any current or former director, manager, or officer of Seller, or (ii) any current or former Employee or independent contractor of Seller who, directly or indirectly, supervises or has managerial oversight over (or supervised or had managerial oversight over) any other current or former Employees or independent contractors of Seller and no event has occurred or circumstance exists that would serve as a reasonable basis for any such allegation of sexual harassment or sexual misconduct. Within the six (6) years prior to the date hereof, Seller has not entered into any settlement agreement related to allegations or threatened allegations of sexual harassment or sexual misconduct by any current or former director, manager, officer, Employee, independent contractor, or other service provider of Seller

#MeToo Seller Considerations

What About Sellers?

- Sellers should do their own diligence to understand sexual harassment liabilities → some will be apparent (e.g. in the media), others will require investigation
- Adjust Buyer reps. to limit liability
 - Strike Rep. (this will raise Buyer suspicion and could jeopardize the deal)
 - Include Knowledge Qualifiers
 - Schedule any known matters and negotiate solution (escrow, purchase price, etc.)
 - Do not attempt to withhold existence of known sexual harassment claims or allegations

General DEI Diligence and Integration Opportunities

- Diversity, equity, and inclusion have become increasingly important to many businesses, to enhance brand image, ensure a competitive and engaged workforce, and to address concerns from investors and the general public
- Assessing DEI during deal diligence can provide vital information for risk management and integration strategy, and can set the foundation for a successful DEI program post closing
- DEI related diligence: general DEI policies and strategies; anti-discrimination, anti-harassment, and other workplace conduct policies; workforce demographic diversity and representation at management levels; employee satisfaction analysis based on review of glass door, social media, etc.; pay equity review
- Integration services: equal pay analysis and guidance; crisis management and investigations; workplace cultural assessments; workplace training; enhanced and coordinated DEI strategies

Integration – Employment Issues

- Who will be the employer post-Close?
 - Buyer? Sub? Continuation of Target?
- Will there be a termination of employment and rehire by buyer?
 - Be wary of potential WARN Act triggers and payout obligations
 - Will there be a payout of accrued wages/vacation?
 - Payout of wages, bonus, commissions, and other incentive entitlements?
- What agreements will be assigned over; what new onboarding documents will be utilized?
 - Executive employment agreements; offer letters; PIIA; arbitration agreements; handbook policies
- Cultural considerations and potential challenges
 - Reporting structures; job titles; scope of responsibilities; employment policies; shift in total company size

Integration – Employment Onboarding

- People you need . . .
 - New employment contracts
 - Adoption of seller’s employee contracts
 - Retention or signing/transition bonuses (whether paid by seller or buyer)
 - Consulting agreements (key seller employees, short-term buyer need)
 - Immigration issues, H-1B visa problems, intercompany transfers, etc. (especially with multinational companies)
- Protection you need . . .
 - Confidentiality agreements
 - Assignment of inventions
 - Nonsolicitation/hiring restrictions
 - Noncompete agreements
 - Special-need consulting agreements (e.g., cooperation by seller’s employees is essential to ongoing litigation, transitional training)
 - Immigration assistance concerning all visa and work authorization issues

Integration – Benefits Issues

- Structure of transaction may impact benefits treatment
- What will be the impact on employee benefit plans?
 - Will target plans be continued or assumed?
 - Will target plans be terminated and continuing employees moved to Buyer's employee benefit plans?
 - Will employee be offered credit for prior services with Seller?
- Benefits liabilities
 - Who will be responsible for liabilities pre/post-closing?

Integration – Benefits Issues (contd.)

- Maintaining different benefit packages vs. one platform for all employees post-transaction
- Consider employee benefit covenants
 - Maintain comparable/substantially similar benefits or same as buyer's similarly situated employees for a specified period
 - Consider whether any carve-outs from comparable benefits continuation are warranted (e.g., equity compensation, defined benefit pension benefits)
 - Provide crediting of service to target employees (e.g., seniority for severance and PTO plans) and maintain severance arrangements for a specified period, etc.
- Terminate pre vs. post post-closing
- Liabilities

Integration – Benefits Issues (contd.)

- Executive contract treatment
 - Upcoming expiration/renewal
 - Structural issues (e.g., anti-assignment provisions in employment agreements)
- Equity treatment
 - Cash out vs rollover
 - Performance Awards
- Other Considerations
 - Efficiency
 - Administration
 - Costs

Retention Considerations

- Strategies to retain key employees
 - Executive Agreements
 - Bonus/Retention Plan
 - Transaction Bonus Agreements
 - Rollover of Equity
 - Non-compete Agreements and other post-closing restrictions
- 280G Considerations

Restrictive Covenants

- Non-Competition Agreements
 - Prevent someone from entering into a particular profession
- Non-Solicitation Agreements
 - Prevent someone from soliciting a company's clients or employees
- Confidentiality/Inventions Assignment
 - Restrict someone from disclosing or using a company's proprietary information

Restrictive Covenants in the M&A Context

- Relevance to Mergers & Acquisitions
 - Current agreements with a seller's employees
 - Proactive agreements with a seller's principles
- Variations by jurisdiction
- Sale of business vs. employment
- How to use and evaluate
 - Existing agreements with a seller's employees should be reviewed for enforceability and liability concerns (e.g. generally not enforceable in California and North Dakota)
 - Buyers should consider requiring sellers' key employees to execute restrictive covenants
 - At integration, consider whether to require employees to sign new confidentiality and inventions assignment agreements

Evaluating and Drafting Restrictive Covenants in the M&A Context

- Review key terms and enforceability items
 - Diligence reviews should focus on enforceability of restrictive covenants
 - Buyers should be aware of unenforceable restrictive covenants and apprised of the ramifications.
- Consider new restrictive covenants for key employees of seller
 - Reasonable agreements for senior managers who will transition to buyer
 - “Sale of Business” style agreements for former principles or key shareholders (these can be much broader in duration)

Termination-Related Liabilities

- Contractual severance or similar benefits
 - Individual employment agreements
 - Severance plans
 - CIC agreements
- Statutory termination payments
 - Includes WARN and similar state law (e.g., NY and CA)
 - Can arise in the context of existing liabilities (e.g., seller conducted recent layoffs or plant closings but failed to comply with WARN)
 - Can also arise where buyer needs to reduce target's workforce

WARN Notice Issues

WARN in General

- WARN – Worker Adjustment and Retraining Notification Act
 - 60 days written notice before . . .
 - any “plant closing” or “mass layoff”
- WARN problems:
 - Forget common sense
 - Notices must be written, with specific dates
 - Watch postponed separations/transactions
 - Exceptions are not true exceptions (exceptions, exemptions, and exclusions!!)
 - Many states have separate and different WARN-type notice laws

WARN Notice Issues

Sale Situations

- Stock deal may not involve employee “terminations” at all
- Potential liability in Asset Deals if buyers fail to hire a sufficient number of seller employees
- Technical terminations don’t count if . . .
 - There is a “sale” (all or part of the business), and
 - Seller’s employees are hired by buyer as of the effective date (time) of sale
- Buyer/seller allocation of WARN duties:
 - Statute is incomprehensible
 - Watch 90 days before and after the deal
- Deal-related WARN short list . . .
 - Address buyer/seller allocation of WARN obligations
 - Use representations/warranties to address separations before/after sale
 - Consider indemnification language
 - Address buyer’s plans about seller employees
 - Err on the side of issuing WARN notices
 - WATCH for “technical terminations” occurring before or after sale effective date

Severance Pay and Waivers/Releases

- Read the severance plan (guidelines etc.)
- Amend the plan if necessary before workforce reduction
- Read all handbooks and individual contracts
- Consider an “ERISA-compliant” severance plan
- Watch “technical” sale-related terminations as severance triggers
- Preexisting severance plan – no WARN “credit”
- Releases (OWBPA):
 - 45-day review period required if “group” terminations (21 days otherwise)
 - 7-day revocation period
 - “group” terminations: need to disclose positions/age/eligibility factors list
 - other content requirements (advise employee in writing to consult attorney, etc.)

Concluding Remarks/Summary

- Business objectives should drive employment strategy
- Use employment counsel (separate from benefits and deal counsel)
- Realistically plan for and address union issues
- Structure “due diligence” around operating plans (and get “due diligence” to buyer’s operations people)
- Think ahead regarding integration issues

Key Takeaways from This Session

- Properly identify big picture employee-related exposure issues and allocation between parties
 - contractor misclassification, exemption misclassification, union issues, WARN Act, COVID issues, contractual severance issues, pension entitlements, #metoo, DEI considerations
- Address benefits integration issues and contractual negotiations of same
- Identify union and international issues early; realistically plan for and address potential union and international issues
- Use strategic integration and restructuring models to maximize deal value
 - Utilize appropriate onboarding notices and documentation
 - Coordinate buyer's and seller's announcements to address employee hiring, retention, union issues, and deal-related employment litigation risks
 - Utilize restrictive covenants, when appropriate, to protect goodwill, relations, and proprietary information
 - Retain appropriate talent; consider milestone retention structures to incentivize outcomes
- Anticipate potential timing issues (severance agreement review; WARN notice periods; potentially long notice, negotiation, and review periods if unions or international works counsels involved)
